

MICHAEL G. FRAMBERGER
PRESIDENT, MICHAEL G. FRAMBERGER SEMINARS, INC. (MFSI)

Michael G. Framberger, President of Michael G. Framberger Seminars, Inc., is the author and creator of the Get Happy, Get Healthy, Be Wealthy system comprised of a book of the same name, seminars, an interactive website, e-zine, and newspaper column.

Sharing his expertise and insight with others, Mike has over 25 years of professional experience in marketing Life and Health insurance products and services to businesses, families and individuals. In addition, Mike is a guest lecturer and instructor at local universities, offering extended education certification for human resource managers on employee benefits and recent legislation.

Mike is an active member and volunteer for many professional organizations and has served on a number of councils and boards including National Association of Insurance and Financial Advisors, National Association of Health Underwriters and Private Industry Council for San Luis Obispo county. As a result, he has received numerous accolades and other honors for his ongoing service to professional associations and local charities.

Mike received his Bachelor of Science degree at California Polytechnic State University and holds a number of certifications and licenses: Chartered Life Underwriter; Chartered Financial Consultant; Fellow Life Underwriters Training Council; General Securities License; Registered Health Underwriter and Registered Employee Benefit Consultant.

When Mike's not working, he shares his passion for life with others, planning and preparing meals for the homeless and entering a number of cook-offs where he shares his healthy recipes. An avid outdoorsman, he participates in a number of triathlons, backpacking, skiing and camping. Mike lives with his wife of 30 years, Connie and their Labrador Samantha. Their daughter Nicole is a UC Santa Barbara graduate.
